SYLVAN FARMER TRAIN VICTIM

NICARAGUAN UNIT WITH 3 U. S. MARINES ANNIHILATED IN CLASH WITH BRIGANDS

REBELS REPULSED AND DRIVEN BACK BY RESCUE SQUAD

MARINES KILLED AFTER TWO GO TO ASSISTANCE OF THIRD WITH SUPPLY TRAIN

Managua, Nicaragua—A patrol of the Nicaraguan national guard, led by United States marines, was annihilated in a terrific fight with rebels near Apall, official advices said Friday.

Three marines were killed, while the losses of the guard were 11 dead, four wounded and one missing.

The marine dead were: Lt. Lawrence C. Brunton, Cpl. Covington. Pharmacists' Mate Whitehead. Covington, leading a supply train, was attacked by the rebels four miles from Apall. Brunton and Whitehead went to his assistance and were likewise trapped.

Capt. Johnson came to the rescue with a roving patrol and drove the rebels back. The wounded and the bodies of the slain were brought to Managua Friday.

Losses of the bandit forces were not known. It was the most severe loss suffered by the national guard since it was organized.

MOTHER OF CLARKE SCOUTS SUICIDE THEORY IN PROBE

INVESTIGATORS STILL PROBE "LOVE TRIANGLE OR SUICIDE" OF FLIER

Miami, Fla.—The mother of Haden Clarke does not believe he killed himself although his death is under investigation as a "love triangle murder or suicide" in which Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller and her flying partner-manager, Captain W. N. Lancaster, were held for questioning.

The young flier, who was helping the woman aviator prepare a story of her flying adventures, was found dead in bed Thursday in the home occupied here by Mrs. Keith-Miller and Lancaster. He and Lancaster slept on the porch. Lancaster's gun was found under the body.

"I will believe he committed suicide if the authorities so decide, but I find such a theory incomprehensible," Mrs. Ida Clarke, woman's magazine editor and journalism instructor, stated.

"Haden always had an aversion to suicides. Even as a small boy he would not play with toy pistols." There was some evidence to support her belief.

Notes were found, however, which indicated suicide. And the stories told during the night by Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller which were in practical agreement also indicated suicide.

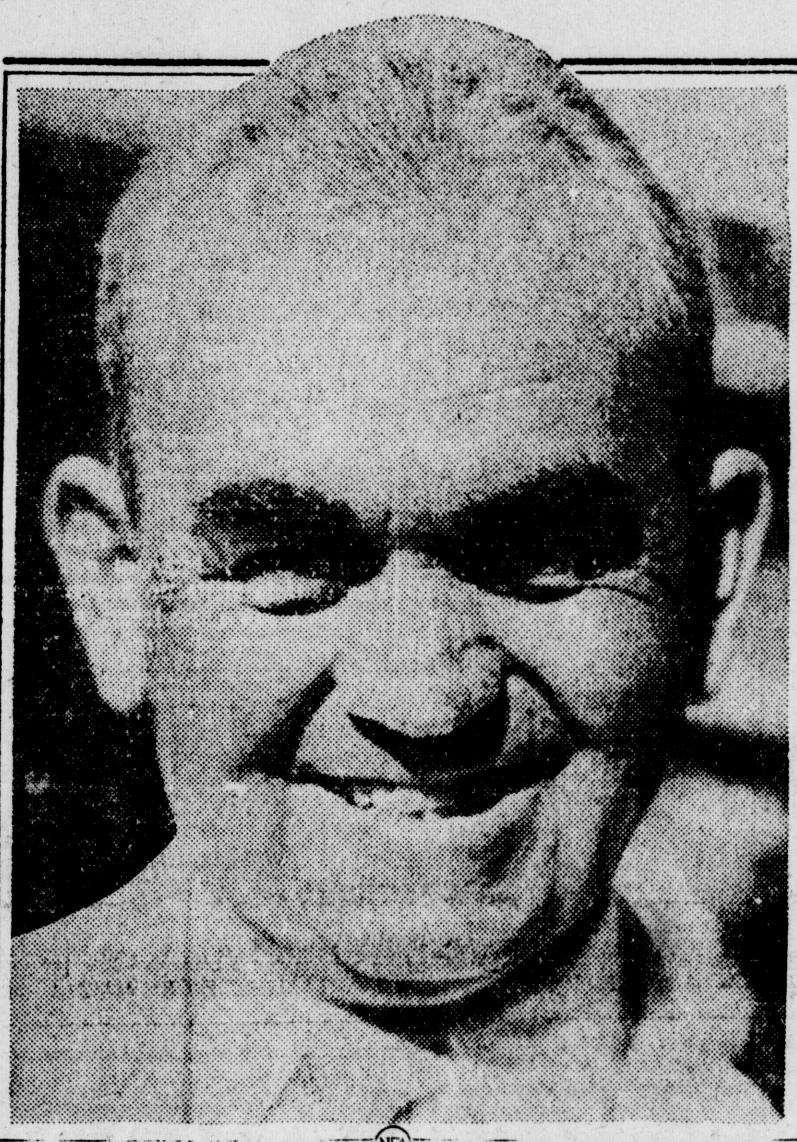

U. of M. Regents Adopt Economy Policy

Minneapolis—The board of regents of the University of Minnesota Friday had adopted a program of strictest economy and will make up the institution's budget along that line, President Lotus D. Coffman said.

No salary increases, continuation of vacancies as they occur, minimum purchases and limitation of part time help were advocated.

St. Paul—Shortage of funds will halt practically all federal court trials in Minnesota until new appropriations are available July 1, Joel M. Dickey, clerk of the federal court revealed Friday.

Loses Fight for Freedom

This recent picture of Tom Mooney shows him as he appears today, the marks of 16 years in prison etched deeply in his face. He is now a visibly aged and gray-haired man.

MRS. MOONEY CONTINUES FIGHT FOR SON DESPITE PARDON DENIAL

BULLETIN

Sacramento, Calif.—Tom Mooney has not had his last chance for clemency at the hands of Gov. James Rolph, Jr., the latter declared today just before leaving for Richmond, Va. to attend the governors' conference.

"If new evidence is uncovered or new witnesses produced, I shall be glad to consider a new application for clemency," he said.

Rolph was so nervous over the reception he might receive from Mooney sympathizers there.

Sacramento, Calif.—Denied a pardon for the fourth time by a California governor, Tom Mooney began anew Friday his fight for freedom that in 16 years behind bars has brought only disappointment and defeat.

Governor Rolph's refusal to grant the pardon because "no new facts" were offered to support Mooney's plea led supporters of the convicted labor leader to seek his liberation along entirely new lines, possibly through a new trial.

In the front lines of the reorganized Mooney forces was his 84-year-old mother, Mrs. Mary A. (Mother) Mooney. She listened in dry-eyed disbelief Thursday as Governor Rolph read the decision which doomed her son to stay in San Quentin prison.

Recovered from the first shock of the decree—she had hoped for at least a commuted sentence—Mrs. Mooney announced an attempt will be made at once to have District Attorney Matthew Brady try Mooney on a single murder indictment in San Francisco superior court.

This indictment had not been pressed since 1917, when Mooney was convicted on related indictments as one of the preparedness parade bombers. The Mooney defense fense, it was learned, will stipulate to all evidence produced at the original trial provided witnesses may testify to subsequent developments.

Convinced a jury would acquit Mooney on a retrial, Mrs. Mooney said thereafter the pardon application would be renewed with Governor Rolph.

This program was outlined by Attorney Aaron Sapiro of New York when he and Mayor James Walker pleaded a pardon last December before Rolph—the hearing on which the latest decision was based.

Refusing to discuss the decision which held Mooney was guilty of the bomb outrage and, with Warren K. Billings, was justly convicted, Governor Rolph prepared to leave Sacramento by plane Friday for a national governors' conference in Richmond, Va.

Mooney was at work in the prison kitchen at San Quentin when Warden James B. Holahan summoned him to break the news. He was disappointed but not surprised.

Toledo, O.—A boycott on California products was declared by the Toledo Central Labor union a few hours after Governor James Rolph refused to pardon Tom Mooney. Union members also were urged to abandon plans for vacation trips to the state.

New York—The refusal of Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California to pardon Tom Mooney brought strong comment from individuals who have long maintained that he was unjustly convicted of the San Francisco bomb outrage in 1917. Mayor James J. Walker, Mooney's advocate in his most recent bid for a pardon, said, "Until I have read the opinion I prefer not to say anything."

OFFICERS URGED TO RESIGN AFTER BEING NOMINATED

SECRETARY OF OLSON ISSUES STATEMENT TO STATE DEPARTMENT HEADS

St. Paul—Vince Day, executive secretary to Governor Floyd B. Olson, Friday issued a statement to state department heads urging them to resign their offices upon receiving nominations for elective offices.

Heads of several state departments are expected to enter the coming primaries, seeking congressional and state positions. The statement read:

"It is the duty of all persons accepting employment from the state government to give the state their best services. I feel for that reason that any state employee seeking election to a public office should upon receiving and accepting a nomination immediately tender his resignation from such position he may hold with the state."

Indian Chief Erects Teepee Hotel Roof

Chicago—Chief Crazy Horse, 34 year old Sioux Indian, could not sleep in his room in the Sherman hotel.

He set up his teepee on the roof and slept soundly. He jerked beef over an open camp fire for today's breakfast. "Room too little, feel likum choke," he explained.

SUBSTITUTE BILL INVOLVING BONUS ADVANCED BY LEA

Washington—Rep. Fish, Rep. N. Y., accused the house ways and means committee of "lack of leadership and courage" today in appearing in opposition to the $2,000,000,000 soldiers bonus bill.

"It's time this bill was reported back to the floor of the house, and got out of the way," Fish told the committee, declaring business confidence was being held back by the present procedure.

Fish, Rep. Andrew, Rep. Mass., and Rep. Lea, Dem., Calif., attacked the Patman bonus bill as a dangerous inflationary measure. The measure proposes to issue $2,000,000,000 in new currency.

They said they favored a reduction in interest payments for veterans on their loans on adjusted service certificates. Fish would make the interest charge "either two or three per cent," instead of six.

Representative Lea, Democrat, California, attacked the measure which would give the veterans $1,350,000,000 more "than the government now owes them." He urged rejection of the Patman bill, being considered by the committee, and adoption of a bill of his own, providing for payment of the present value of adjusted service certificates.

Note Brings Details of Tragic Death Young Scientist in Ecuadorian Jungle

Chicago—The tragic fate of a young American scientist seeking data for his Ph. D. thesis in the green hell of steaming Ecuadorian jungles never before penetrated by white men was revealed Friday in a letter from his comrade on the expedition.

The letter written from Munzon, Peru, by Harold Foard of West Virginia, brought news of the death of Thomas Walsh, Jr., 26, to Walsh's parents here.

Walsh died in the arms of his friend after fighting vainly to continue despite fever and starvation. A brief note scrawled before his death January 29 pictured graphically the half-delirious last moments of the young explorer.

He wrote: "Mother: I am making Foard go on for aid—can't move—God save us—please help Foard marry Clarissa (a girl in Lima, Peru)—He is your son now—Dad I am dead—save mother."

HEARING HERE MAY 11 ABANDON GAS TRAINS

Petition of the Northern Pacific Railway Co. to discontinue the service of an outgoing gas-electric coach and an incoming gas-electric coach between Brainerd and Little Falls, operated daily except Sunday, will be considered at a hearing here, 10 a. m. Wednesday, May 11, in the farmers' room of the court house.

The Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission received the application for the removal of trains No. 35 and 36 Thursday. The commission ordered the hearing.

Train No. 36 leaves Brainerd at 6:30 p. m., arriving at Little Falls at 7:30 p. m., meeting main line trains No. 2 and 14 at 7:49 and 7:51 p. m. for the Twin Cities.

Train No. 35 arrives in Brainerd from Little Falls at 10 p. m. The railroad petitions for authority to discontinue these trains under allegation that their further service is an unwarranted financial burden and that their discontinuance will not deprive the traveling public of reasonably adequate service.

All persons interested will be given full opportunity to be heard. Villagers concerned have also been notified of the scheduled hearing and its purpose.

Granting of the petition would eliminate an outgoing train from Brainerd that makes quick connection with two main line trains traveling to the Twin Cities. Such elimination would leave but one passenger train leaving Brainerd direct for the Twin Cities and the burden of other traffic would remain for train No. 32, gas-electric train, leaving Brainerd at 1:50 p. m., requiring a wait at Little Falls until 7:49 p. m.

The incoming train which the N. P. requests removal is a gas-electric returning from Little Falls.

The schedule of passenger train service as affecting Brainerd now in service follows:

Outgoing

No. 12, leaves Brainerd 3:45 a. m., arrives St. Paul 8 a. m., daily.
No. 32, leaves Brainerd 1:50 p. m., goes to Little Falls via Morris, arriving at Falls at 2:50 p. m.
No. 36, leaves Brainerd at 6:30 p. m., arrives in Little Falls at 7:30 p. m. and meets No. 2 and 14, main line trains, at 7:49 p. m. and 7:51 p. m. for the Twin Cities.
No. 58, leaves Brainerd at 5:59 a. m., arrives Duluth 9:33 a. m.
No. 56, leaves Brainerd at 7:58 p. m., arrives Duluth 11:30 p. m.
No. 55, leaves Brainerd 11:13 a. m. and arrives at Staples at 12:13 p. m.

No. 57, leaves Brainerd at 11:28 p. m., arrives Staples at 12:30 a. m. M. & I. train No. 23, leaves Brainerd at 11:35 p. m., arrives International Falls at 8:05 a. m. Officials are considering changing the time of leaving of this train to about one hour later in the next two weeks.

Incoming Trains

No. 58, from Staples, arrives in Brainerd 5:59 a. m.
No. 56, from Staples, arrives in Brainerd at 7:53 p. m.
No. 55, from Duluth, arrives in Brainerd at 11:08 a. m.
No. 57, from Duluth, arrives in Brainerd at 11:18 p. m.
No. 31, from St. Paul, arrives in Brainerd at 1:25 p. m.
No. 11, from St. Paul, arrives in Brainerd at 11 p. m.
No. 25, from Little Falls, arrives in Brainerd at 10 p. m.
No. 34, from International Falls, arrives in Brainerd at 3:35 a. m.

Misses Weather Five Days; Tries Again

St. Paul—Despite the fact that he has predicted rain for five straight days without a drop of moisture recorded, the United States weather bureau forecaster today repeated that prophecy: "Increasing cloudiness tonight and showers Saturday."

CAPITALIST SAYS HE IS AFRAID TO SELL SHORT AT PRESENT

BRUSH FIRST OF "BEARS" HAD PUBLICITY PRODUCED IN HUNT FOR MANIPULATORS

Washington—Percy A. Rockefeller, capitalist and member of America's first financial family, told the United Press Friday that he would "be afraid" to sell short at the present market because a rise would, Matthew C. Brush, one of Wall street's noted traders, told the investigation that in August 1929 he had an interest in the New York stock market with a liquidating value of $15,000,000.

In the spring of 1930, he added, he began selling short and at one time had a short interest of approximately 125,000 shares.

"When stocks were climbing before the collapse were you ever short?"

Brush said he had no material short interests at that time, but began selling short in the spring of 1930. He was the first "bear" the committee had publicly produced in its hunt for market manipulators. He appeared earnest and courteous. He gave an impression of frankness. He is gray haired, stocky and ruddy. Beads of perspiration gathered on his forehead. After the first few minutes, when his voice was almost inaudible, he lost his nervousness and soon was delivering a discussion of market trading methods.

"If I have a short position in my mind, it's an 'investment' short position to me," Brush said.

"I don't see how any man can play the market short now. I would be afraid to do it," Rockefeller said.

"They can't go much lower and you would make at the most but a few dollars. If stocks went up the short seller would be crucified."

Rockefeller was called as the first witness when the afternoon session of the investigation began. Rockefeller was asked if an investment of $10,000 "in any one of fifty listed stocks would make the investor independently wealthy in four or five years."

He replied that recovery would be a "very slow" process but that he thought that probably was true because many stocks appeared to be good investment for a long pull. Stillwater, Minn.—Matthew C. Brush, New York, president of one of the larger investment trusts, who was called before the senate banking and currency committee Friday, formerly live in Stillwater.

CARRIED 60 FEET IN WRECKED TRUCK AT PILLAGER STATION

N. P. Agent Witnesses Crash, Reports Train and Truck Traveling Slow; Victim Pinned in Wreckage

Struck by a Northern Pacific gas-electric passenger train as he drove his light truck on a grade crossing 20 feet from the Pillager station, Frank Sliter, 65, Sylvan farmer, married, died of internal injuries at the St. Joseph's hospital, Brainerd, at 1:45 p. m. Friday.

Fifth Witnesses Accident

The accident occurred as the passenger train, enroute from Brainerd to Staples, was slowing down to stop at Pillager. The time was 11:35 a. m. Friday.

Both carriers were traveling at a slow rate of speed, W. E. Firth, N. P. agent at Pillager, witness to the accident, reported to the Brainerd Daily Dispatch.

The car was traveling south. It was driven directly in the path of the oncoming train and struck mid-section, Firth stated.

The engineer on the train was a Mr. Dahl, Duluth.

The model T Ford truck which Sliter was driving, being alone in the vehicle, was wound around the cow-catcher and demolished. Sliter was pinned inside and carried about 60 feet, Firth reported.

Firth Tells of Crash

"I was standing on the station platform awaiting the arrival of the train. I noticed the truck approaching the crossing and believed it would stop. I saw the crash and the wrecked vehicle with Sliter pinned inside carried on the cow-catcher down to opposite where I was standing. It was with difficulty that Sliter was recovered from the crumpled vehicle. The injured man was conscious and remained conscious as long as I saw him after the accident," Firth stated.

Firth could give no other explanation for the accident except that Sliter failed to hear the approaching train or had his mind on other matters. He said the crossing is open to view and approaching trains can be seen for some distance in either direction.

Fourth Death 3 Days

The fatal accident at Pillager caused the fourth death within three days on a Northern Pacific track in this vicinity.

Wednesday morning three Deerwood section men were killed when the hand-car they were riding collided head-on with an engine traveling light at a curve five miles east of Deerwood.

Chapple Denounces Liberal Leaders

Washington—Daughters of the American Revolution today heard Professor John Dewey of Columbia university, Gov. Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin and other liberal leaders denounced as "forces of destruction" by John B. Chapple, managing editor of the Ashland, Wis., Daily Press.

Chapple charged that these men were among those whom President Hoover complained of when he said such forces were retarding the nation's economic recovery.

Speaker of House in 1881 Succumbs

Springfield, O.—General J. Warren Keifer, 96, speaker of the United States house of representatives in 1881, died at his home here Friday. He had been ill two years.

An attorney and civil war veteran, General Keifer had served 16 years as a member of congress. His condition became critical late Thursday and he lapsed into a coma Friday. His son, W. W. Keifer, Springfield attorney, was with him when death came.

BLINDS HUSBAND WITH LYE WHILE HE SLEEPS AT HOME

MOTHER OF SIX CHILDREN GETS REVENGE REAL OR FANCIED ILL TREATMENT

Venice, Calif.—In revenge for real or fancied ill treatment during 42 years of married life, Mrs. Rebecca Greenberg, 60, blinded her husband, Morris, 57, with lye as he lay asleep, according to police reports Friday.

After dashing a strong solution of the chemical in her husband's face, Mrs. Greenberg telephoned for officers to arrest her, police said.

She was said to be the mother of six children.

Mrs. Greenberg was charged with assault with a caustic, a felony, and lodged in the city jail. Her husband was taken to a hospital, where physicians said his eyesight had been destroyed and that his life was possibly in danger.

OUTLAW CAPTURES STATION OPERATOR AND ESCAPES POSSE

RENEGADE AND AIDE KIDNAP ATTENDANT AFTER ROB-BING STONEWALL BANK

Ada, Okla.—Estel Henson, filling station attendant captured by Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd and George Birdwell after they had robbed the First State bank at Stonewall, was released Friday.

He was unharmed after 18 hours of harrowing experience with the notorious bandits who narrowly escaped several clashes with posesses. The posesses continued the search for the bandits Friday. The pair obtained about $900 in cash at the bank robbery.

In a skirmish Friday, three posesses concealed in brush along the roadside opened fire on Floyd and Birdwell. The bandits answered with two machine guns and fled after turning their car around in a narrow road.

Their machine was pierced with bullets and the windshield of the black sedan was shot out.

Another report said that a posse surprised the bandits as they attempted to cut their way through a wire fence along the Ada-Macaster road but the outlaws escaped.

Lindy in Mysterious Trip via Motor Car

Hopewell, N. J.—Renewed efforts to negotiate with the kidnappers of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's son were indicated Friday after a mysterious trip by the flier and the arrival of a man believed to be Desa H. Dobson-Pearcock, of Norfolk.

The flier's journey, which may have taken him as far as Milford, Conn., ended shortly before midnight. He was alone in his own car as it speeded along Featherbed road leading to his Sourland mountain.

Earlier in the day several motor cars bearing New Jersey licenses, topped in Milford. Two men believed to be Col. Lindbergh and Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, state police head, were in one car.

MEYER FINED $25
SPEARING ATTEMPT

Arrested originally for spearing fish, Henry Meyer, Pierz, pleaded guilty in municipal court Friday with attempting to take game fish by spearing.

The defendant was fined $25 and costs by Judge J. H. Warner.

Meyer was arrested by A. P. Card, deputy game warden, following a spearing party on the shore of Lake Edna. He was nabbed when he fell in a muskrat hole when Card's fire broke the air to order five men fled to stop.

C. A. Ryan, attorney for Meyer, informed the court that his client had told him he had not speared any of the fish, that he had gone spearing with a friend and they only happened to be near the other men. Ryan stated that his client intended to spear only suckers and believed this was not a violation of the law.

Yes, Who Would?

MINING ENGINEER
IN DISTRICT RACE

Frank J. Plut, Crosby, mining engineer, Friday was entered in the race for county commissioner of the fifth district, opposing A. B. Johnstone, Ironton, incumbent, and Fred Richter, Crosby.

Plut has been a resident of the Cuyuna range the last 21 years.

MURDER SUSPECT
FALLS OFF TRESTLE

St. Paul—Detectives Friday searched back into the past history of Alex Tamelkoff, proprietor of the Park hotel, who was beaten and shot to death in his room, for the solution of motives that led to his killing by a man giving the name of Joseph Boyd.

The body of a man believed to be Boyd was held in the county morgue Friday for further identification. Two persons who saw Boyd run through the lobby of the hotel after Tamelkoff had been killed identified his body as the assailant.

The suspect fell from a railroad trestle and broke his neck and back Thursday.

Visiting Range Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Angst, former residents of Crosby, who have been in Europe for the past two years, are guests of friends on the range this week.

Angst has had a contract with the Soviet government in Russia along the lines of mining activities such as he was engaged in at Crosby, when he served as superintendent of the Morocco mine. He addressed members of the Cuyuna range Masonic lodge at their meeting Thursday, telling of his experiences while abroad.

ALIENIST TO TAKE STAND AT TRIAL

Honolulu, T. H.—Hawaii's honor slaying trial was in adjournment Friday while prosecution alienists made ready to testify against Lt. Thomas H. Massie, young naval officer and one of the defendants.

The alienists, Dr. Joseph Catton, of San Francisco, and Dr. Paul Bowers, of Los Angeles, may be called Saturday when they are expected to combat defense claims that Massie was insane when he killed Joe Kahahawai, half-caste, accused of leading an attack on Massie's wife, Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie.

Prosecutor John C. Kelley would not say definitely he intended to use them. He indicated he might depend entirely upon Dr. Robert P. Faus, city-county physician, to oppose the insanity plea.

FLAMES DESTROY
PERRY LAKE HOME

Returning home late the evening of April 20, Joe Prushek of Perry Lake, and his wife, found their home almost entirely demolished by fire.

Their daughter, Gail, who had been left at home alone, had gone to visit her grandmother, who lives in to be gone only a short time. A low fire was left burning, which she did not consider dangerous. When she returned about 4 p. m., a blaze of unknown origin had gained considerable headway, starting at the opposite side of the house from that where the stove was burning.

Efforts were made to check the fire, but little could be done as no fire-fighting apparatus was available.

Shower in Compliment to Bride of Three Weeks
A wedding shower was given in honor of Mrs. Ralph Mudge in the home of Mrs. R. J. Lynes, 620 E. street, N. E., Thursday afternoon. The home was decorated appropriately. A color scheme of orchid and white was carried out. At the table, tiny white bells were used in decoration. The centerpiece was formed of a large cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. "The Perfect Man" was read by Mrs. Lynes, and Mrs. F. S. Perkins sang, "Smiling Thru." The remainder of the afternoon was spent in a social way. Mrs. Lynes served a dainty luncheon at 4:30 o'clock. The guest of honor received many beautiful gifts. Mrs. Lynes is a bride of three weeks.

CAPONE APPEALS FOR CASE REVIEW

Washington—Attorneys for Al Capone Friday filed an appeal with the United States supreme court asking that body to review his recent conviction on income tax frauds.

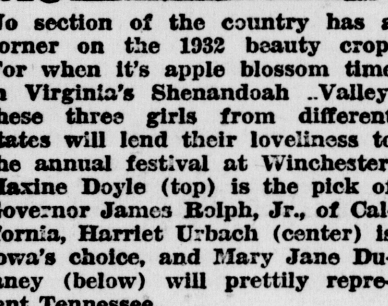

The appeal was filed by Michael J. Ahearn and Albert Fink, as counsel for Capone. The brief submitted on behalf of Capone challenges the felony counts on which he was sentenced to terms of imprisonment aggregating 11 years and fines totaling $50,000.

"The only question here involved," the brief states, "is whether the felony counts on their face are so defective that they cannot support the judgment pronounced upon them."

The brief maintains that the indictments under which Capone was sentenced are "fatally defective."

U. S. SUBMARINE FORCE

KILLED ON FIRST DAY BACK WORKING AFTER LAYOFF

BURIAL RITES AT DEERWOOD FOR THREE VICTIMS N. P. RAIL COLLISION

Funeral arrangements were completed Thursday afternoon for the three victims of the collision between an N. P. locomotive and a speeder handcar near Deerwood April 20. The three men, Henry Hendrickson, Ray Barber and Swan Hokanson were killed immediately at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday when through some misunderstanding of orders, they returned from an inspection trip on the Cedar Lake section to meet head-on with a lone engine from Staples. The crash occurred about half a mile from Cedar Lake, at a sharp curve in the track.

Coroner Albert Humble of Crosby, who was called to the scene of the accident, found the three men horribly mangled, Barber and Hendrickson having been caught in the cowcatcher of the locomotive. Hokanson, who had gone to work that morning for the first time after a lay-off of several months, was instantly killed when thrown against the headlight of the locomotive.

Ray Barber, a resident of Deerwood for sixteen years, was born in Oakland, Iowa, on June 28, 1885. In 1913 he was married to Amelia Steele of Kimberley, Minn., who survives him, as do three children. His father, H. T. Barber, and his brother, Keith, have made their home with him for some years. He will be buried at the Deerwood cemetery following services at the Methodist church in Deerwood at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, April 23. Rev. Clara Wagner will officiate.

Henry Hendrickson was born in Finland in 1873 and came to Deerwood in 1911. Besides his wife, he leaves three children: Mrs. G. Leonard, wife of Dr. G. Leonard of the Minneapolis General Hospital; Oscar Hendrickson, a student at Dunwoody Institute, and Henry, a member of the naval coast guard. Rev. Wagner will conduct funeral services for Mr. Hendrickson at the Deerwood M. E. church at 10:30 a. m. Saturday, April 23. Mr. Hendrickson is also survived by a brother, Victor, and two sisters, Mrs. S. Hermanson and Mrs. August Carlson, all of Brainerd.

Swan Hokanson, the third victim of the accident, will be buried at Scandia cemetery in Deerwood, after services at the Swedish Lutheran church, with Rev. David Carlson officiating. Mr. Hokanson was born in Sweden on March 27, 1866. He was unmarried, and is survived by a sister, Mrs. Erickson, and a brother, also of Deerwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bemis and daughters, Beulah and Eunice, will be guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rhodes.

Martin Anderson of Pillager was in the city on business Friday morning.

Harry Johnson of Outing was a Brainerd caller Thursday.

Miss P. E. Remillard, Staples, came to the city to ship Thursday.

August Peltzer will spend Saturday and Sunday at his home in Wahpeton, N. D., Friday night.

A GREAT IDEA—

Leopold Stokowski's remark that he will lead street bands in free concerts, if the depression doesn't end soon and enable music lovers to pay for their tickets, starts an interesting chain of thought, even if he didn't mean his remark to be taken seriously.

Perhaps, at that, he really meant it. Explaining his statement, the famous Philadelphia orchestra leader said:

"I am a leader and not a follower. I am not trying to please. I have a task to perform, and that task is to lead people into the paths of greatness in music, to inspiration and to beauty. If they do not see their way to it is my duty to lead them through the darkness into the light."

It might be a good thing if those sentences could be studied for a while by musicians, artists and writers throughout the United States.

For a long time we have been hearing about the rights and privileges of the creative artist. He is not like other men, we are told, and he can't be treated as other men are treated. When, as occasionally happens, his nation permits him to live in poverty, it is a shameful thing.

All of this is perfectly true. But there is another side to it. As Mr. Stokowski points out, the artist has duties as well as privileges. Whether his nation provides him with a comfortable living or not, it is up to him to provide the nation with beauty; and his obligation is far heavier than the one that rests on his fellows.

The gift that has been given him—to create fine music to write noble books, to paint lovely pictures—must be used freely, if he is to be worthy of it. Whether he gets properly paid or not, he must give his fellow-citizens the best there is in him. Mr. Stokowski's idea about free street concerts is really not in the least far-fetched.

A good deal has been said about America's inability to appreciate artistic works. A large part of the blame can be given the artists themselves. If Mr. Stokowski's idea were more widely accepted by artists the nation might show that it has unexpected capacities for recognizing and enjoying beauty.

STRANGE CASE OF MR. KREUGER—

Now that more light has been shed on the tangled affairs of Ivar Kreuger it is beginning to be a little easier to understand why the rich "match king" killed himself.

Indeed, the suicide seems to be the one action in the whole tangled chain that looks logical. All the rest is bizarre, disordered, reasonless.

Why should one of the world's richest and most powerful men forge millions of dollars worth of Italian government securities? Why should he contribute heavily to monarchist movements in Spain, to Fascist movements in Germany? Why should he get things into such a mix-up that police investigation is looked for in such widely separated places as New York, Berlin, Paris, Amsterdam and Geneva?

Is there, perhaps, something about the pursuit of great wealth and great commercial power that betrays a man and compels him to delude himself when the going gets difficult?

Climbing to the top in the world of finance is no job for the oversqueamish. To reach the position that Ivar Kreuger reached one must have a boundless confidence in one's self, coupled with a readiness to reach out for whatever it is that one happens to want without worrying too greatly over the ethical niceties.

Do that long enough, and eventually you reach the point at which your own will and your own desires are your only law. Then, if bad luck comes, the stage is all set for a titanic crash like that of Kreuger's.

Swedish investigators have asserted that forged Italian bonds with a face value of approximately $100,000,000 were traced to the match king's door. Imagine the utter impossibility of finally evading detection in a swindle of that size, and you have the measure of this man's delusion.

The determined pursuit of money, beyond the point at which one has enough to buy the freedom and leisure which money can provide, is an ignoble game. A debacle like that of Kreuger's is a sample of its final significance.

ANOTHER NORRIS REFORM—

Senator George W. Norris put through Congress two important and spectacular reforms this year—the lame duck amendment and the law reforming the use of injunction laws. Now he is pushing still another reform, which is greatly needed but which lacks the elements of popular appeal that the other two had.

The new one is a move to deprive the federal courts of jurisdiction over much litigation which arises when plaintiff and defendant in a civil action live in two different states.

That sounds excessively uninteresting, perhaps. But it is important. A great corporation, for instance, often incorporates in a state other than the one in which it does business, so that it can throw litigation into the federal courts. Since federal court litigation is expensive this gives the corporation an immense advantage when the ordinary citizen brings a legal action against it. Senator Norris' bill deserves to pass.

THE OPEN FORUM

To Editor Daily Dispatch:
PROGRESS

We are now in the thirty-second year of the 20th century, the enlightened age, (?) we believe in evolution, science, Darwinism and other theories.

We now have prohibitionists, pacifists, atheists, revolutionists, and even capitalists. These years have brought wonders in inventions, progress, wars, disasters, bank hold-ups, kidnappings, crimes and accidents of all kinds.

We are and claim to be one of the most advanced nation of the world in resources, education, wealth and industry, if we are then why the crime wave, law-breaking, pauperism, unemployment, and other woes that tend to destroy the moral of our people? Why not try to remove the causes of such? At the beginning of this century if someone had predicted that today we would fly about the world as we now do, or that with the radio spoken messages would be sent around the world in less than twenty-four hours, he would have been adjudged insane, but they are here and if we develop them and other inventions for a constructive purpose and for the benefit of mankind, then we will have the blessings of Life, Liberty, and Happiness and our posterity will enjoy living in, the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave.

THE CAT SNEAKS BACK!

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, studying shorthand in a Chicago business school, meets BEN LAMPMAN, a dour young musician, at a party. Although AUNT JESSIE, with whom Susan lives, objects to her having suitors, the girl lets Ben escort her home. ROBERT DUNBAR, a young millionaire, is a schoolmate of Susan's at the business institute. Dunbar takes her to lunch and Susan finds herself deeply interested in the young man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

THEY walked along through the summer dusk, two very self-conscious young people. Susan thought everyone on the block must be noticing her. At the corner where Schultz's drug store window showed a pink and purple display of cold creams and powders she shrank into young Lampman's tall shadow.

The usual hanger-ons were outside the cigar store, pimply youths whispering to each other. Susan knew one or two but pretended not to see them.

"Do you always walk so fast?" demanded Ben Lampman in a surprised tone as they arrived, rather breathless, under the theater's blazing portal.

Susan shook her head. She was blushing. How was she to explain to him that this was the first time she had ever gone anywhere in the evening with a young man? She half started to speak, then checked the impulse.

No, he would think her what Rose Milton called "a dope." She wouldn't tell him. Susan was afraid of ridicule.

Silently they walked past the doorman in his white coat and silver buttons. Silently they allowed another white-coated youth to show them to their seats. Susan, crushing past knees in the darkness, wondered suddenly and agonizingly why she had come. She longed with all her heart to be safe and quiet and solitary on Aunt Jessie's front porch.

There was this much to be said about the pictures. You didn't have to talk to your escort. You could be the veriest dolt and still be a social success at a Nancy Carroll talkie.

Soon Susan forgot to be self-conscious, forgot to wonder if there were all around her prying neighbors who would report her adventure to Aunt Jessie. She watched the screen with avid interest.

"Such rot!" She heard a low voice growling into her ear. She almost jumped with astonishment, having put the young man at her side almost out of her mind.

"This stuff is terrible," Ben Lampman muttered to her. "Where'd they get that chinless hero?"

Susan smiled. "He is pretty bad. But she's cunning. I like her."

Ben groaned. "I think it's rotten. Want to stay?"

Susan wriggled with displeasure. "Yes—yes. If you don't mind."

LAMPMAN settled down with a martyred air. Was this, Susan wondered, the way all boys behaved when they invited you out? Somehow it didn't come up to her ideal of knightly conduct. She was a bit huffed and showed it.

Walking home Ben tried to take her arm but Susan broke away primly.

"Let's hurry. My aunt will be home—and—"

"And what?" he wanted to

"You're not angry at me?" Ben asked.

know. "She doesn't like me to be out late. She'll be mad as hops. She's very particular," Susan tossed her head. Let him like it or not!

Ben looped along at her side, taking two long, indolent steps to four of the girl's short ones. "Oh, she is, is she?" he commented, dryly.

"Yes," Susan told him. She began to feel decidedly uncomfortable at the thought of facing Aunt Jessie. She began to wish the tall, dark young man striding beside her was at the bottom of Lake Michigan. Anywhere—just so Aunt Jessie might not discover Susan's perfidy!

"Don't you want to leave me here?" the girl inquired nervously, under the street lamp at the corner nearest her home. "I can just as well go the rest of the way alone."

Ben Lampman stared at her moodily. "What's the matter?" he wanted to know. "I won't bite your aunt. Why do you want to shake me?"

Susan laughed unconvincedly. "How silly!" she trilled. "I was just trying to save you the trouble of going all the way. Rose told me you lived way out on the south side."

"I do," he informed her dully. "But when I take a girl out I see she gets home safe. How do I know there's not a cut-throat waiting in the alley-way?"

Susan giggled. She said, "You sound just like Aunt Jessie."

Suddenly Ben Lampman took her arm and the vice-like grip of his long fingers on her bare flesh shocked her into silence.

"You don't look like a little fool," he barked. "You're not one. Why act that way, then?"

Susan, usually even tempered, felt wild anger flow over her, washing her like tidewater.

She wrenched herself away as pink as she felt when she

Tree Planting Program Adopted at Staples

Staples—"The City Beautiful" is the slogan adopted in theory if not literally by the ladies of the study club of Staples. They are sponsoring a movement for the planting of a number of trees along the city streets and the placing of shrubs and flowers around the homes of the city.

In cooperation, the Methodist Episcopal church is planning on planting trees in the boulevards around the church building, each tree to be in memory of some active worker in the church. A call has also been made for the donation of shrubs and plants for beautifying the property.

DRESSY JACKET OUTFITS BRING YOUTHFUL NOTE TO MODE

By JOAN SAVOY
NEA Service Writer

Jacket costumes are setting a new high, both in popularity and in line. Especially, if you like a young flavor to your costumes, there's nothing nicer nor more appropriate than the bolero outfit.

Perhaps it's the wide variety of ways bolero outfits work out this year that makes them so intriguing. No two are exactly alike. And you never can tell, from a distance just what a bolero costume is.

Two new kinds are illustrated today. Both have a certain dressiness about them. Both are ideal for afternoon things, for tea or calling, since that avocation is in style, again.

On the left you have a charming soft light blue suit, the skirt and the abbreviated jacket of imported wool crepe, in triple sheer. The long-sleeved blouse matches exactly in color and is almost identical in weave, but it is silk. There are 32 metal buttons on this little tricky suit, an each button has its hand-made buttonhole, which gives it that dressmaker look that is easy to wear.

The other suit is one of those indispensable, interchangeable ones. It is made of black flat crepe and string-colored linen lace.

The linen lace makes a whole dress, in the first place, with a lovely scalloped neckline and tight long sleeves that are very chic.

Over this there goes an open-front skirt and a tiny bolero of black flat crepe. It is a handsome costume, when intact, can be worn just as a lace dress, with all little black jacket, or the black felt crepe skirt and jacket can top any number of separate black or printed crepe dresses, for variety's sake.

One Eye Takes the Veil

Here's a new slant on fashions. Bette Davis, screen actress, looks life straight in the face—with one eye. The tiny, black, brimless hat she is wearing drops a large mesh veil with a sprinkling of polka dots over her right eye. The left has to take its own tricks.

Miss Juanita Rogers Visits at Viet Home

Esdon—Miss Juanita Rogers is visiting a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Veit before going to work at the Blue Goose Inn at Garrison.

The ladies' aid met with Mrs. A. Mathison last Thursday. A large crowd was present and a lovely dinner was served by the hostess. The day was much enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Veit received their Shetland pony Sunday from the pony farm at Belmond, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hammett and two children and D. W. Hammett, all of St. Paul, visited the week end at the Jim Coffield home. They returned to the city Sunday night.

Mrs. John Veit and Juanita Rogers visited Thursday afternoon at the C. F. Lemler home near Dyke.

Earl Borden sawed wood for Ed Elmore Friday.

Miss Florella Mathison and Miss Doris Gross were Brainerd callers

Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Veit, Raleigh Obenchain and Miss Juanita Rogers motored to Carlton Friday to visit Juanita's parents.

Mrs. John Veit was a Brainerd caller Wednesday. She was accompanied home by Miss Juanita Rogers.

Miss Violet Hoston spent the week end with her parents at Brainerd.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Peterson gave a party Saturday night for the young folks. A large crowd was present and a good time was reported.

Raleigh Obenchain visited Sunday evening at the Harry Stearns home.

John Veit and Raleigh Obenchain finished working for the Guin brothers last week.

Theodore Hoheisel Honored on Birthday

Granite Ledge—A birthday party was given at the Theodore Hoheisel

Terry Blasts Homer to Lift Giants from Cellar

CHAMPION CARDS DAVE SHADE LASHES OUT A 10-ROUND DECISION OVER KILBOURNE REMAIN IN LAST PLACE BY DEFEAT

New York—"Memphis Bill" Terry, first baseman for the New York Giants, has started after the National league batting championship in dead earnest, using his own style of stick wielding.

He won the league title in 1930 and was barely nosed out by Chi K. Hefey last year, batting according to the dictates of his mentors. But Bill believes he can do better this year by following his own theories, and he has started out in a big way to prove it.

Terry is concentrating on pulling his hits into right field. In the past three games he has knocked five home runs to lead the majors in circuit clout honors. Previously he had done as directed and tried to scatter his hits over the field.

His batting average for the eight games played is .405, and he is headed in the National division only by his roommate and pal, Freddy Lindstrom, who has .417. Terry won the National league title in 1930 with .401, and virtually tied for first place last year with .348. Chick Hefey nosed him out with .348.

Terry is in fine shape. He worked hard in California, after his little holdout difficulty was settled, and hit a .500 clip during training. His most recent efforts have prevented the Giants from remaining tied in the cellar with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Yesterday he blasted out a homer in the third inning, with one man on base, to push the Giants into their second straight victory over the Phillies. The Giants won 5 to 4. Freddy Fitzsimmons allowed only six hits and doubled in the eighth to bring in the winning run. Ed Holly, on the Phillies mound, yielded 10 safeties.

The champion Cardinals remained alone at the bottom of the National league ladder after losing 7 to 6 to the Pittsburgh Pirates in 10 innings. A fumble by Pepper Martin in the 10th spell disaster.

At Boston, the Braves opened their home season by beating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 3. Bob Smith beat Sylvester Johnson in a pitching duel as the Chicago Cubs nosed out the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 2.

In the American league, the Detroit Tigers stepped into the lead by beating Cleveland, 5 to 3, while the Washington Senators were blanked by Boston, 1 to 0. Although out-hit 10 to 4, the Bostonians bunched two hits in the seventh to score.

Mickey Cochrane homered with the bases loaded in the ninth, to give the Philadelphia Athletics an 8 to 6 victory over the Yankees. Sammy Byrd, the first Yank at bat, also clouted a home run and Simmons garnered a circuit swipe for the A's in the fourth.

Chicago at St. Louis was rained out.

Yesterday's Hero—Mickey Cochrane, who homered in the ninth with the bases loaded to win for the Athletics. He drove in four runs, made two runs and got two hits in three times at bat.

Trainer of Fighters

Dies After Operation

Chicago—Barney Furry, 54, who trained Jack Johnson, Al Wolgast, Otto Von Porat, Bud Taylor, Sammy Mandell and many others, died after an operation for gall bladder trouble.

GOPHER DIAMOND TO OPEN AGAINST IOWA STATE NINE

Minneapolis—The University of Minnesota baseball team will open its intercollegiate season with a series with Iowa State college Friday and Saturday.

The Iowans from Ames have a veteran team and are expected to afford the Gophers adequate competition. Coach Frank McCormick of Minnesota expects to make frequent changes in his lineup but said Wilfred Mattson, veteran right hander, will start Friday's game.

Bill Finley of St. Paul, a new candidate, will be the other half of the Gopher battery today. In the infield, Kenneth Gay will play first, Mickey Ascher second, Dave Beauchaine, captain, short, and John Scallon third.

Outfielders will be Vernon Anderson, left field, Marsh Ryman, center, and Bernard Hennig, right field. Ryman and Hennig are veterans.

Ed Burke will probably pitch Saturday's game with Lyle Warren and Marvin Ghelso in reserve. The Gophers will play Carleton Tuesday and then go to Lafayette, Ind., to play Purdue, April 29 and 30.

EMPLOYS TRICKS OF GAME GAINED SINCE 16 IN BOUT

Chicago—Dave Shade, the bobbin' weavin' Californian who has been fighting since he was 16, undoubtedly knows more tricks of the boxing game than any other active fighter.

He used many of them last night to win a 10-round decision from Jack Kilbourne, lanky Oklahoman who holds the middleweight title of Australia and had been hall-of-fame as the next 160-pound champion. Shade weighed 160 3-4, Kilbourne 159. The attendance was 4,000 and the net receipts $4,743.

Since he started boxing 4-round bouts around San Francisco in 1918, Shade has engaged in so e 400 ring battles. Shade came about as close to winning a title as a man can come and not win it. That was in 1925 when he fought Mickey Walker for the welterweight championship. Shade won round after round and then Walker finished strong in the last two rounds of a bout and retained his title by a decision. Walker won 11 never fight Shade again after that.

Shade didn't land a half dozen solid blows last night against Kilbourne. He bobbed and weaved and took his exercises while Kilbourne missed and fanned the air with his long arms trying to find Shade.

Shade had a slight cut under his left eye, and he was so effective in making Kilbourne miss that he came out of the bout without having the wound reopened. Kilbourne tried for three rounds to open the cut with a left jab and finally gave up.

BREACH BETWEEN LONDOS AND HIS MANAGER WIDENS PETTY SUBDUES MUDHENS TO LIFT MILLERS IN RACE

New York—There have been some very high class rumors flying around about the difficulties between Boss Elephant Herder Jacques Curley and his pet jumbo, Jim Londos, but the first official confirmation of the breach came on Thursday when Mons. Curley grabbed himself a microphone and proceeded to give off a radio speech.

Once warned to his task Curley wasted no words, minced no matters. "What wrestling needs," he said, "is an eye-talian champion." There was only one way to interpret this straight-from-the-shoulder message. What wrestling needs and what Curley is looking for is a grunt-and-groaner who can take the very Greek Mister Londos by the seat of his trousers and toss him into the far reaches of the balcony—the top balcony, if possible.

Well, let's see if we can't help Curley in his time of need. My suggestion of a means of pulling the royal purple off Brother Londos is to throw him in there in a shooting match with (a) Jack Sherry, (b) Dick Shikat, (c) Hans Steinke, (d) John Pesek, (e) a couple of other guys whose faces, muscles, and howls and grimaces I know, but whose names escape my spring fever ridden mind.

A shooting match, in case you are on the argot of the wrestling racket, is a match that's dead on the level; a match where the best man and not the man who is in best with the powers that be, wins.

THE OPEN FORUM

To Editor of Daily Dispatch:

Though I appreciate as much as anyone the exclusive publicity concerning a recent ill-timed trip to Gull River made by myself and four companions, which was provided the newspapers by a couple of deputy game wardens from St. Paul, it doesn't seem quite fair that I should receive the entire credit for all the fish we didn't spear.

The five of us, as it really happened, were sighted in the offing by the vigilant guardians of the public fish while carrying two spears and two lanterns.

For some reason best known to the dark and devious mental processes characteristic of a great many game wardens, I was picked as the one man out of the five who, with the aid of two ordinary arms handling two spears and two lanterns, was bent on slaughtering the Gull River fish. The other four men, the quick minds of the wardens immediately grasped, were the audience I had brought along to watch my expert work.

Though greatly flattered by the indirect compliment, my naturally modest nature compels me to admit publicly that I am not the professionally expert night fisherman that the game wardens, apparently, want you to believe.

AUXILIARY BAND CONCERT, MAY 2, DIVIDED IN 3 PARTS

The annual concert to be presented by the American Legion Auxiliary band Monday evening, May 2 will be in three parts.

The band will open and close the program. Miss Marie Clark's singing class will present its recital as an interlude between the two halves of the band concert.

The concert will begin with the conventional military march and continue with the overture, "Home Circle" by Schlegel. These will be followed by a number, "Flirting Shadows."

In order to bring variety to the annual concert programs, last year instead of introducing the usual number for a solo instrument a brass quartette was heard. This year there will be a group of four short novelty numbers featuring individual sections of the band.

Both directors and performers believe that these numbers will prove the most interesting heard at this or any of the preceding concerts played by this band.

The first features the bass section and is called "Them Basses." The second of the group is "The Whistling Farmer Boy." This number was played at the concert two years ago and is being repeated by request.

Miss Edna Wright again will be heard in the whistling solo and the same dog will bark. The trombones will be featured in a clipper selection called "Miss Trombone." This group and part one of the concert will close with an augmented drum section and band playing "Roll 'Em Up."

SENATORS HEAR NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE HEAD

Testifying that neither short selling nor bear raids were responsible for the tumbling of stock prices, President Richard Whitney of the New York Stock Exchange is shown here (seated at table, at left) as he made his long-heralded appearance before the Senate Banking and Currency committee in Washington. Whitney blamed the demoralization of the market upon liquidation by the general public.

To the Car Owner Who Wonders

WHY

His Automobile Insurance
Premium Has Increased
So Greatly This Year

.. Here are the Reasons Why..

(1) FAST DRIVING

The average person drives too fast. He leaves the curb and makes turns without signalling. You should drive more carefully.

(2) CLAIMS.

Don't pad your bill where you have a legitimate claim against the other fellow. Play fair with the Insurance Companies, they want to play fair with you.

(3) JURIES.

Too many juries award excessive damages. This adds heavily to insurance costs.

(4) AMBULANCE CHASING.

Beware of the paid runner who refers you to an unknown lawyer when you have a claim against another driver. Don't let your lawyer bring suit before trying to make amicable settlement.

(5) INCREASED MILEAGE.

The more general use of closed cars. The great increase in fine roads. Greater car speeds. All these factors are present in the necessity for higher rates.

You Must Do Your Part in Correcting
These Conditions If You Do
Your Part

Rates Will Come Down

YOU WILL BE MURDERED.

MURDERED !?!

IN THE NAME OF SCIENCE, YES. AS CHEMISTRY IS THE STUDY OF CERTAIN LEARNED MEN, HOMICIDE IS THE CALLING OF MY GIFTED MASTER. HIS TIRELESS AND SCHOLARLY RESEARCH IS A NOBLE EFFORT TO DETERMINE THE BEST MEANS OF ENDING HUMAN LIFE.

I'VE ALWAYS WISHED THAT ALBERT, HERE, KNEW SOME TRICKS... HE'LL BE GLAD TO LEARN SOME, TOO !!

WELL, FRECKLES IS THE GUY WHO CAN DO IT... HE'S GOOD, WHAT I MEAN !!

Y SEE, DOGS ARE ALMOST LIKE PEOPLE...
SOME ARE DUMB
AN' SOME ARE
SMART... DO YOU THINK HE HAS ANY TALENT,
JAY?

OF COURSE ALBERT HAS TALENT... HE'S A SMART DOGGIE !!

YOU CAN TELL BY THE WAY A DOG ACTS, OR BY WHAT HE DOES WHETHER HE HAS ABILITY OR NOT...

SAY! YOU DON'T THINK HIS NAME WOULD BE ALBERT WALTERS IF HE WUZZNT A SMART DOG, DO YOU!!

DeLisle, a young French artillery officer, wrote the Marseillaise, in April, 1792. He was a faithful Royalist, and did not dream that his song would be the inspirational hymn of the Revolutionist army. He was twice thrown in prison, and it was not until just before his death that he was decorated with a ribbon of the Legion of Honor.

THE WATER SPIDER builds a bell-shaped home beneath the water. When the nest is complete, the spider goes to the surface, lifts its body high into the air, then quickly jerks back. A bubble of air clings to its legs and is taken below to the dwelling. This procedure is kept up until enough air is placed inside for the brood of young that is to be raised.
